The Need for Supply Chain Security in a 5G Connected World

Supply chain security is perhaps the most critical unsolved global telecom issue that requires industry and government cooperation. The Telecommunications Industry Association (TIA), the multi-decade, global leader in telecom quality standards, will be leading the discussion on the establishment of needed supply chain security standards and assessments at MWC Barcelona 2020.

Join us for conversations about this critical issue and how it will affect 5G deployments. Connect with senior government and industry leaders as we work together to strategically solve this issue.
