

Copyright Permission Form

---

TIA holds copyright for all standards, specifications or bulletins produced by its Engineering Committees. Reproduction and/or distribution of these documents, either in hard copy or soft copy, is prohibited without copyright permission.

Note: Referencing a TIA document by title and document number does not require copyright permission. Please use the complete title and document number, along with a pointer to the TIA website. For example: ANSI/TIA-942-C - Telecommunications Infrastructure Standard for Data Centers (<https://tiaonline.org/>).

Examples of instances in which copyright permission may be granted include:

- academic purposes, such as a presentation at a conference
- reference by another association or Standards Developing Organization (SDO)
- insertion into government procurement contracts
- translation into another language
- publication in a textbook or other manuals

Requester:

Requester Title:

Organization:

Address:

City:

State/Province/Zip:

Country:

Requester Email:

Purpose for which permission is needed:

Academic purposes such as a presentation at a conference

Reference by another association or SDO

Insertion into government procurement contracts

Translation into another language

Publication in a textbook or other manual

Other:

Specific TIA document for this request:

(include document number and title)

Copyright Permission Form

---

Portion of the document to be reproduced
(e.g., text, tables, charts, etc.)

Intended Audience (e.g., organization, conference,
government, etc.):

Size of expected audience or number of copies that will be reproduced:

Type of media format that will be used for the copy (i.e., hard/soft copy)

Once completed, send the form to standards-process@tiaonline.org. If a proposed mockup or sample is available, please send it along with the form submission.